Questions and Answers

Q1. Are there any environmental studies / mapping that has been undertaken to date, particularly related to the greenfield development lands? What would be the scope of any additional environmental work that would be required?

A1. Scope would include mapping of wetlands and environmentally sensitive areas, using the WAWA maps, and other GIS data to be provided by the City.

We have highlighted a need for a desktop Geotech Study particularly for the greenfield areas, to determine where lands are suitable for development. We will provide contour data, that can aid in assessment of slope condition. There are many areas with a rocky landscape, and potentially will require blasting to create development opportunities. The Plan may contemplate the need for infrastructure incentives to address such challenges, where feasible.

Environmental Site Assessments, where contamination is anticipated, shall be done at Subdivision and Permitting Stages. This is not within scope of the project.
